

The 5 Themes of Geography - 3" x 5" Size

The 5 Themes of Geography

- Location: Longitude and latitude; or where a place is located in relation to another place.
- Place: Physical characteristics such as animal, plants and landforms; also languages, buildings, food, and transportation created by humans.
- Region: An area of the world that has certain characteristics in common.
- Movement: How people and ideas get from one place to another.
- Human-Environment Interaction: How humans and the environment affect one another.

The 5 Themes of Geography

- Location: Longitude and latitude; or where a place is located in relation to another place.
- Place: Physical characteristics such as animal, plants and landforms; also languages, buildings, food, and transportation created by humans.
- Region: An area of the world that has certain characteristics in common.
- Movement: How people and ideas get from one place to another.
- Human-Environment Interaction: How humans and the environment affect one another.

The 5 Themes of Geography

- Location: Longitude and latitude; or where a place is located in relation to another place.
- Place: Physical characteristics such as animal, plants and landforms; also languages, buildings, food, and transportation created by humans.
- Region: An area of the world that has certain characteristics in common.
- Movement: How people and ideas get from one place to another.
- Human-Environment Interaction: How humans and the environment affect one another.

The 5 Themes of Geography

- Location: Longitude and latitude; or where a place is located in relation to another place.
- Place: Physical characteristics such as animal, plants and landforms; also languages, buildings, food, and transportation created by humans.
- Region: An area of the world that has certain characteristics in common.
- Movement: How people and ideas get from one place to another.
- Human-Environment Interaction: How humans and the environment affect one another.